WOOD SPECIES

American Black Walnut

From the forests of the Eastern and Central US. American Walnut combines strength with a deep, rich brown color.

Aromatic Red Cedar

Hand-selected from the finest cuts from Maine all the way to East Texas. Featuring an appealing array of reds, browns, and streaks of sapwood with a natural hardwood scent.

American Cherry

Straight from the Allegheny Plateau of Pennsylvania, New York and West Virginia. When freshly cut, American Cherry begins as a very light, apple brown color before darkening to a medium reddish brown as the wood ages.

Mahogany

Thanks to its workability, stunning beauty and exceptional durability, Mahogany has long ranked among the most prized cuts. An enduring favorite with uses traced to the early American colonies, mahogany has a storied history of being the go-to choice for America's top craftsmen and artisans.

Carmalized Bamboo

Sourced alongside the hills and valleys of the Southeastern seaboard, our bamboo offers a uniform pale yellow, almost white color. Combining a fine finish with strength, our bamboo is hand-selected for durability.

NEW Purple Heart - Premium +20%

Purple Heart really is purple. Originating from South and Central America, Purple Heart is sometimes dark, smoky maroon, to a deep purple. A truly stunning wood species.

NEW Shimmering Maple - Premium +20%

Also known as "Curly Maple", it shimmers in the light. This is the most famous grain variation of the maple heartwood, prized as the best wood for musical instruments (notably guitars, & violins). Shimmering Maple on the back of your iPhone is as beautiful as it is unique.
